

Biography for Suraj Syal

Suraj Syal has spent his career focusing on learning and education, having spent 17 years as an educator and a professional national presenter. Suraj's varied background as a classroom teacher of exceptional and under-resourced students, a pioneer in infusing technology as a tool to invite engagement and active learning, and a former English language learner provided the perfect foundation for serving as a technical consultant, coordinator, and presenter to school districts throughout Utah in personnel development.

He is passionate about infusing and developing leadership at all levels, and creating classrooms that are intentional and prepared to instruct students of the 21st Century. Suraj holds both a M.S. in Special Education from Brigham Young University and an ESL endorsement from Southern Utah University.
